Chinook Songs

by Franz Boas (1858-1942)

This PDF is provided by www.Flutopedia.com as part of a collection of resources for the Native American flute. The full citation for this digital copy of the original source material is provided below, as well as the specific details of the source of this reference and how it was digitized (if known).

As part of the Flutopedia effort, extensive metadata (title, author, citation, etc.) has been encoded into this file. Select File/Properties in any Adobe product to view this information. You also can use text search on this document, based either on the OCR encoding done during the original digitization or during Flutopedia document preparation using the OCR facility of Adobe Acrobat 9 Pro.

Based on our best efforts, we believe that providing this material from www.Flutopedia.com to users in the United States does not violate any legal rights. However, please do not assume that it is legal to use this material outside the United States or for any use other than your own personal research and self-enrichment. Also, we cannot offer guidance as to whether any specific use of this material is allowed.

If you have any questions about this document or issues with its distribution, please visit http://www.Flutopedia.com/ for information on how to contact us.

Citation

Contributing source: Harvard University
Digitizing sponsor: Google, Inc.
Digitized by: Google Books on August 1, 2008

Processed by Clint Goss [clint@goss.com] on Monday, October 31, 2011 at 8:03AM EDT on host Castor
WHEN the traders of the Hudson Bay Company first entered that part of our continent which is now known as Oregon and Washington Territory, they found an enormous number of languages spoken in this district, which made intercourse with the Indians extremely difficult. The needs of the trade were such that a means of readily conversing with the natives of all parts of the country was necessary, and out of the clumsy attempts of the Indians and of the French and English traders to make themselves understood sprang a lingua franca, which is known as the Chinook jargon, and which has rapidly spread northward. At present it is spoken from Washington Territory to Lynn Channel, in Alaska; the older Indians only do not understand it. It is used as well in the intercourse between the Indians and whites as between members of tribes speaking different languages. The jargon consists principally of English, French, Chinook (proper), Nutka, and Sahaptin words. The Chinook proper is spoken on the lower Columbia River, Sahaptin in the interior of Washington Territory, and Nutka on the west coast of Vancouver Island. In course of time the number of English words contained in the jargon has increased, while the other elements have become proportionally less prevalent. The structure of the jargon, so far as it has any structure, shows certain characteristics of the Chinook.

In the early part of this century attempts were made by Catholic priests to compose hymns and sermons in this jargon, and this did not fail to increase its importance and to develop it into a better means of communication. Vocabularies and collections of phrases were published from time to time, but it is not generally known that the jargon is even used by native poets.

My attention was first called to this fact when I saw a number of Indians from the northwest coast of America, who were exhibited in Europe. Later on I found a song printed in a third-class novel, "For Love and Bears," published a few years since in Chicago. When visiting British Columbia in 1886, I paid some attention to this subject, and principally to the origin of these songs. The following remarks and collections are the result of this study:

The Indians are at present in the habit of living part of the year in Victoria, Vancouver, or New Westminster, working in various trades: in saw-mills and canneries, on wharves, as sailors, etc. In the fall they go to Puget Sound hop-picking. At these places members of numerous tribes gather, who use Chinook as a means of communication. They have their own quarter in every city. The Indian is very hospitable, and particularly anxious to make a display of his wealth to visitors. Thus it happens that their little shanties are frequently places of merriment and joy; invitations are sent out, a great table is spread, and whiskey helps to stimulate the humor until the day ends in stupid drunkenness. It is at such feasts that songs frequently originate. If they happen to strike the fancy of the listening crowd they are taken up, and after a lapse of a few years known all over the country.
Chinook Songs.

[Here are some songs of this class.] I have to remark first that the spelling is not strictly phonetic. English words, except when modified by the natives, are printed in italics, and spelled in English form. The exploded k, which is not used by the whites speaking Chinook, is rendered by k', the exploded l by tl. The guttural x, which the English ear does not distinguish from the ordinary k, is printed k. The German ch in Bach is rendered by the letter q.

1. Tlaksta sweetheart haiu patlem? Whose sweetheart is very drunk?
   Naika sweetheart haiu patlem? My sweetheart is very drunk!
   Wék maika yitl kopa naika,
   Wék maika yitl kopa naika,
   Wék maika yitl kopa naika!
   Naika kumtuks kada maika!
   I know you!

2. Ka'nowē sun naika kelai'! I cry always.
   Saia ē'li naika mitlait alta.
   Far away is my country now.

[ A great many of these songs refer to the parting of friends and greetings sent to those staying at home. ]

3. Kakoa naika telhum memalos Because my relations are dead,
   Steamboat tlatowa, naika kelai.
   (When) the steamboat leaves, I cry.

4. Good-bye, barkeeper! naika tlatowa Good-bye, barkeeper! I am going now alta okok sun. to-day.
   Dja! Potlatch pātlem cocktail naika. Come! give me a full cocktail.

5. Tlōnas kada naika tumtum I do not know, how my heart feels.
   Naika nanitch Godsroad tlatowa I have seen Godsroad (a steamer) leave, Pe Chali mitlait. Tlaqauya naika. And Charlie on board. I am very unhappy.

6. Tlōnas kada naika tumtum I do not know, how my heart feels.
   Kwansum naika tiki nanitch maika. Always I wish to see you, Atlki naika wawa tlaqauya. Ya ș'ya. (But) soon I (must) say good-bye. Ya ș'ya.

7. Hayaleha, hayaleha, hayaleha! Hayaleha, hayaleha, hayaleha!
   Spos maika nanitch naika telhum If you see my friends
   Wék saia naika memalos alta. (Say), that I had almost died Kōpa Kunspa eli. Yaya. In New Westminster [Queensborough].
   Yaya.

8. Ya kanowē sun naika sick tumtum. Ya, always I long Kopa naika man kopa Calponia. For my husband in California.
The following song has been composed by a Nutka sailor who was left behind by a sealing-schooner in Alaska:

9. Haias lefè naika sick tumtum, A long time I felt unhappy,
   Pe okok islip haias k'al, But to-day is the hardest day, Kada Entelpaize yaqka leave naika. For the Enterprise has left me.

The greatest number of songs of my collection are songs of love and jealousy, such as are made by Indian women living in the cities, or by rejected lovers.

10. Ya, tōs kakoa ! Ya, that is good !
    Ya, tōs kakoa ! Ya, that is good !
    Kaltas tōtchman That worthless woman
    Wēk tiki naika. Does not like me.

11. Haias tlaquuya Very unhappy I was Kunamokst naika oleman, With my wife,
    Kopa Bictoli. In Victoria.
    Hēlo tlaksta Nobody
    Wawa tlaquuya nesaib Said good-day to us
    Kopa Bictoli. In Victoria.

    Spos maika iskum tlotchman When you take a wife, Yaya Yaya.
    Wēk maika soleks naika. Don't become angry with me.
    Kaltas kopa naika. I do not care.

13. Ka Chali tlatowa alta ? Where is Charlie going now?
    Ka Chali tlatowa alta ? Where is Charlie going now?
    Ky'elapai nanitch He comes back to see me,
    Naika tumtum. I think.

14. Naika nanitch Johnny tlatowa I have seen Johnny go
    Pē naika tumtum yeke mitlait house And I think he is at home
    Naika haias pelton tumtum kakoa. I am very foolish to think so.

15. Good-bye, oh my dear Charlie ! Good-bye, oh my dear Charlie !
    Spōs maika iskum tlotchman, When you take a wife,
    Wēk maika ta'ēpe naika. Don't forget me.

16. Ikta mamuk, naika sister, Why, oh my sister, Wawa naika ! maika mash naika ? Tell me, why will you cast me off ?
    Ya ūn aya ! Ya ūn aya !

17. Ikta maika tiki ? What do you want ?
    Kwansum maika soleks. You are always cross.
    Maika oleman, Your old wife
    Hēlo skukum alta. Is very weak now.

18. Ikta mamuk Billy alta ? What is Billy doing now ?
    Yeke tlatowa beerhouse. He is going to the beerhouse.
    Boston wawa: Get out o' way ! The American says: Get out of the Yeke tlatowa. Haiu kelai. way !
    He goes and cries aloud.
I don't know, how I feel Towards Johnny.
That young man makes a fool of me.

Kop a Johnny.

That young man makes a fool of me.

Aya.

That young man makes a fool of me.

I do not care.
If you laugh at me
Dirty boy!

Who will take her away?
The steamboat Hope.

I do not care.

Where are you going now?
Shake hands!
Good-bye! George Bell!

I am very glad
When the steamboat comes here.
I think I shall cry
When the steamboat leaves.

I went to town,
I saw my sister,
My heart was glad.

Oh, come here
To-night!
I want to speak to you!

Always I cry,
For I live far away.

A white man is now your husband,
Mary.
Ha, cast me off thus!

I do not care now.
Ya aya aya.

Nobody can grieve me!

That is Annie's work.

All right, if you do not like me any more now.
You shall not see where I go.

Dja! What do you think now?
You are always cross with me.
Dja! You had better desert me alto­gether.

I don't care now. Ya.
When the steamboat leaves,
Say good-bye, Jimmy!
Billy will feel very sad.

My dear Annie,
If you cast off Jimmy Star,
Do not forget
How much he likes
You.

Go, go, little chief!
Go, go, little chief!
Fare you well, farewell.
Aya, aya, a.

Ah, you my dear!
Where have you been all day?
Thus Billy said to me.

Aya, aya!
I have seen
Sitka your country.
Never mind, if I die
Now soon.

I broke down! my dear!
Say good-bye!
To me now.

Kaltas don't care
If you desert me.
Many pretty boys are in the town.
Soon I shall take another one.
That is not hard for me!

Dja! That is all right! Billy! Aya.
Take Chinese Kiddie! ya a'ya.
She is far better than you.

These songs convey a better idea of the character and life of the Indians living in the cities of British Columbia than a long description could do. It is a remarkable fact that these ditties, though frequently alluding to a single event, and notwithstanding their insignificance, remain in use for many years. The greater part of those I have collected was composed by women. The composer either makes a new tune to each song or uses old well-known tunes. It is worth remarking that songs in the native languages are also conveyed from tribe to tribe. Thus the Tsimshian sing many Haida songs, although they do not understand the meaning of the words, and the same songs are found still farther south. It may be that this custom of borrowing songs accounts for the great number of tunes, the text of which is only a meaningless burden. I give here the tunes of three of the above songs, two of which have the same tune.
Chinook Songs.

The Chinook songs are also of some interest from a philological point of view. In some instances the natives add certain elements of their own language to the Chinook. In song 24, for instance, we find in the first line the syllable gūd. This is Haida, and means: on; the Haida saying, I go on the town, i.e., on the street.

The first word of song 36 is Tlingit, while the rest of the song is Chinook. Finally I give a song in Tlingit, the last line of which is Chinook.

TLÉT tā ko'ē'sa aq torū' tēnūtē' yaridā't. Nothing shall bother my mind now.
Te'ēs i' renakarē' an qat kuga nā. Don't speak to me. I wish I were dead.
Naika sister. With my sister.

GLOSSARY.

Following is a list of the Chinook words occurring in these songs; the English words printed in italics are not included in the list. It is of interest to see that not more than seventy-four words occur in the collection of thirty-nine songs:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chinook Word</th>
<th>English Translation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>alta</td>
<td>now</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>atiki</td>
<td>later on</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boston</td>
<td>an American</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>delē't</td>
<td>right away</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dja'</td>
<td>interjection, go on</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>e'li</td>
<td>land</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ēlip</td>
<td>first</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>halas</td>
<td>large, very</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>haiu</td>
<td>many</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>hē'hē</td>
<td>to laugh, to mock</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>hēlō</td>
<td>nothing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>hēlō' tlañsta</td>
<td>nobody</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ikta</td>
<td>what, something</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>iskum</td>
<td>to take</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
kada, how.
k'a'koa, the same, thus, because.
k'al, difficult, heavy.
kaltas, good for nothing.
ka'nówe, all.
kapet, to finish, that is all.
kaq, ka, where.
kelai, to cry.
kól é'li, winter (cold country).
kopa, in, on, to, etc.
kuli, to walk, to go.
kumtuks, to know.
kunamokst, together.
Kunspa, Queensborough (New Westminster).
kwansum, always.
ky'e'lapai, to return.
lé'le, a long time.
lé'ma, hand.
maika, you (sing.).
mamuk, to make.
másh, to throw away.
mé'malos, dead.
mesal'ka, you (plur.).
mitlait, to live, to remain, to be.
naika, I.
nanitch, to see.
nesai'ka, we.
okok, this, that.
ó'leman, old man, old woman, husband, wife.
på'tlem, full, inebriated.

Frans Boas.